Debra, I'm sorry if you took my joking in the wrong way. I didn't mean anything by it and I like you a lot and I am not really that mean. I'll probably see you some next year (maybe). Have a good life and it has been a pleasure knowing you. May God be with you and help you in times of need.

With all my love,

Debra, It certainly has been a crazy year in English. Mrs Jackson is a flutterbrain. Biology was crazy too. Mr Bryant is a flutterhead. Good luck in all of your future endeavors. Have a good summer!

Debra,
We had some good times in biology. Remember all those games. Boy, we hung in there. Have a nice summer and Take care.

We're writing our own songs,
Letting the feelings start and then grow,
Working out our own problems
Doing our own thing and doing it right.
Togetherness will always last Forever as the road goes on,
We're writing our own songs,
Being our own selves and bosses,
Rich minds of endless roads of time
Working for futures of courage and rhyme.
Choosing life's pleasures and gifts to all,
Facing up to reality when it arrives
Doing all we can to make life better,
Though we all have the sorrow that follows.
We've written our own songs,
Though none published in society
Like those of Poe and de Galliene,
But we've tried to change the scene,
With liberal justice and equal rights
That always walked hand-in-hand,
But their leaders just stare and stand.
We're writing our own songs,
Letting the years pass us by,
When the end finally comes
Creating sorrow and despair,
Our melodies soon fade
And the lyrics don't rhyme.
We're writing our own songs,
Not forgetting our friends
When the words go down in effect,
But literally we've,
We've never written songs,
We just did what life asked,
Then took its prides and enjoyments
In accomplishing our great deeds,
Which were many although few,
But mostly what counted
Is that we did it all together.

Suzanne R. Willman

To fulfill the need to be who I am in this world is all I ask.

I can't pretend to be something I'm not, and I won't wear a mask.

There's the need to be true to myself and make my own mistakes,

And not to lean too hard on someone else no matter what it takes.

I'm not fool enough to ever think that I could be the master of my fate,

But it's up to me to choose my roads in life, rocky may be the ones I take.

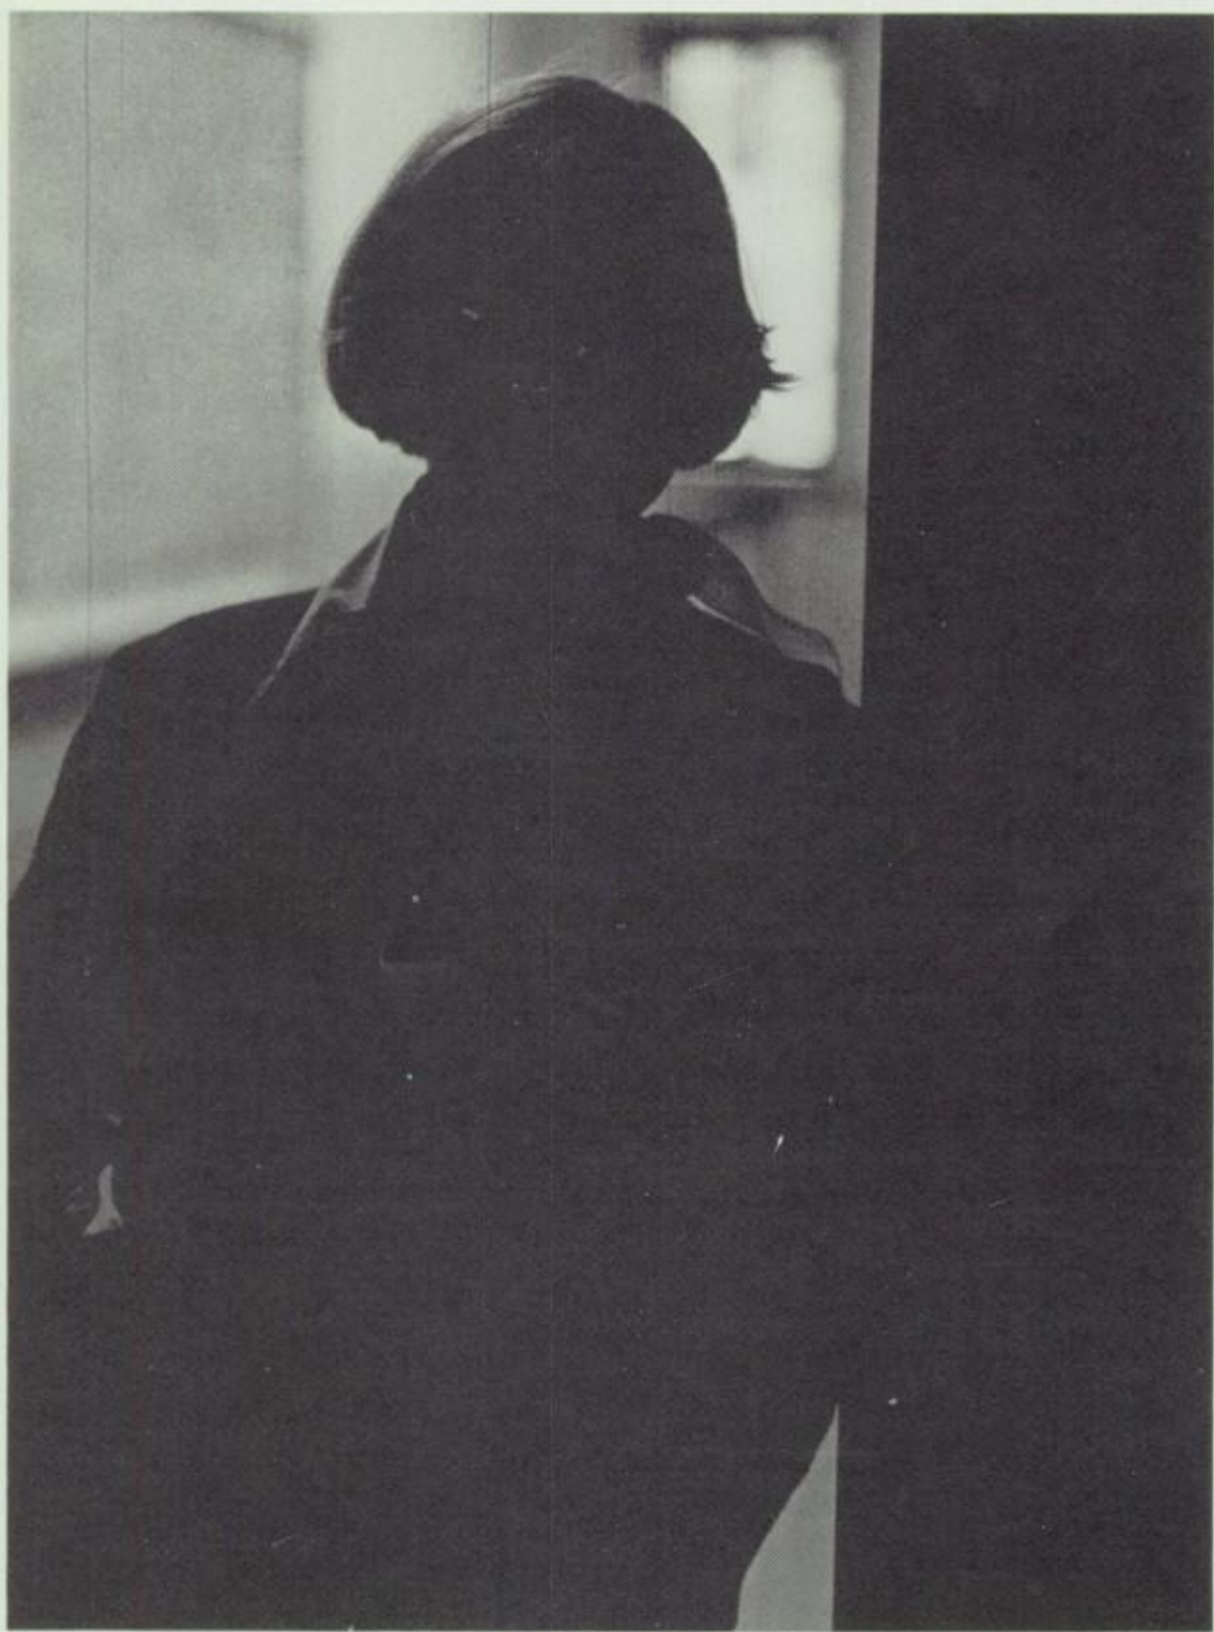

There's the need to be something more than just a reflection of a man.

I can't survive in someone's shadow, I need my own place to stand.

'cause I am what I am and I have the need to be.

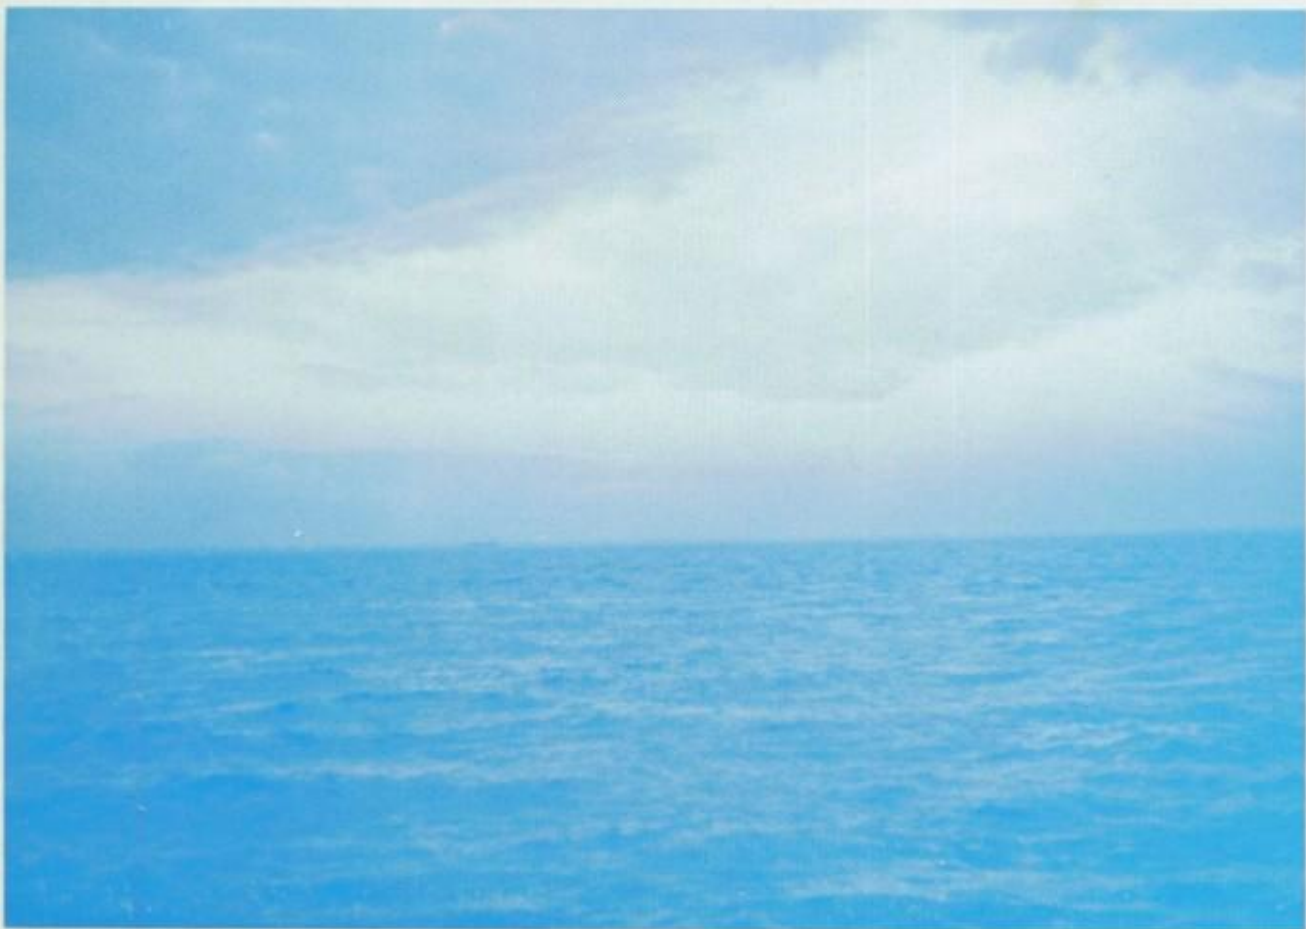

Jim Weatherly

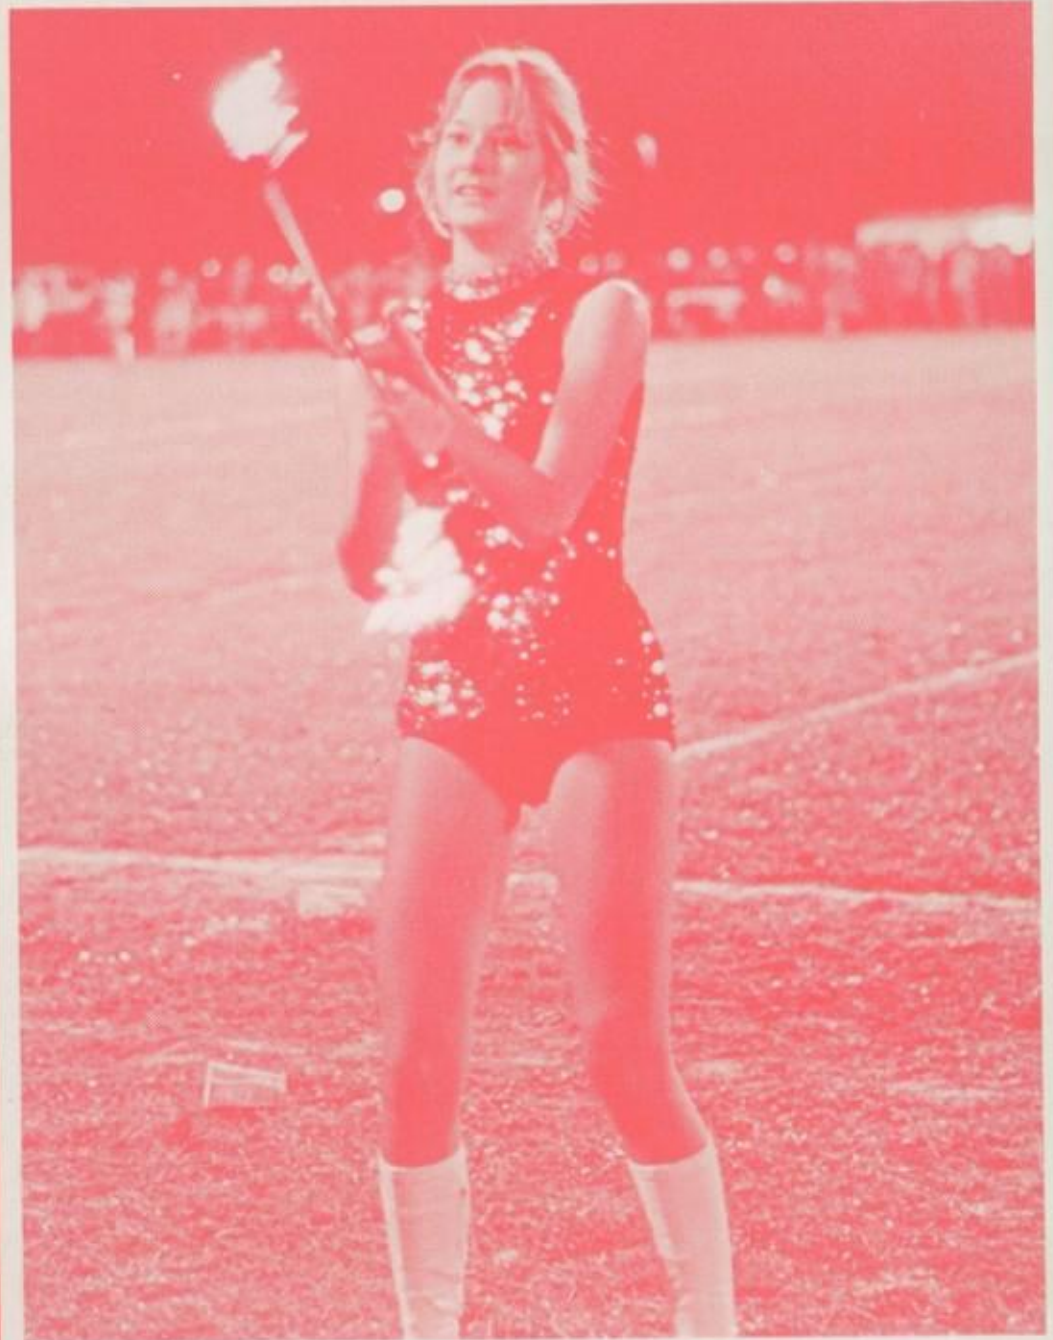

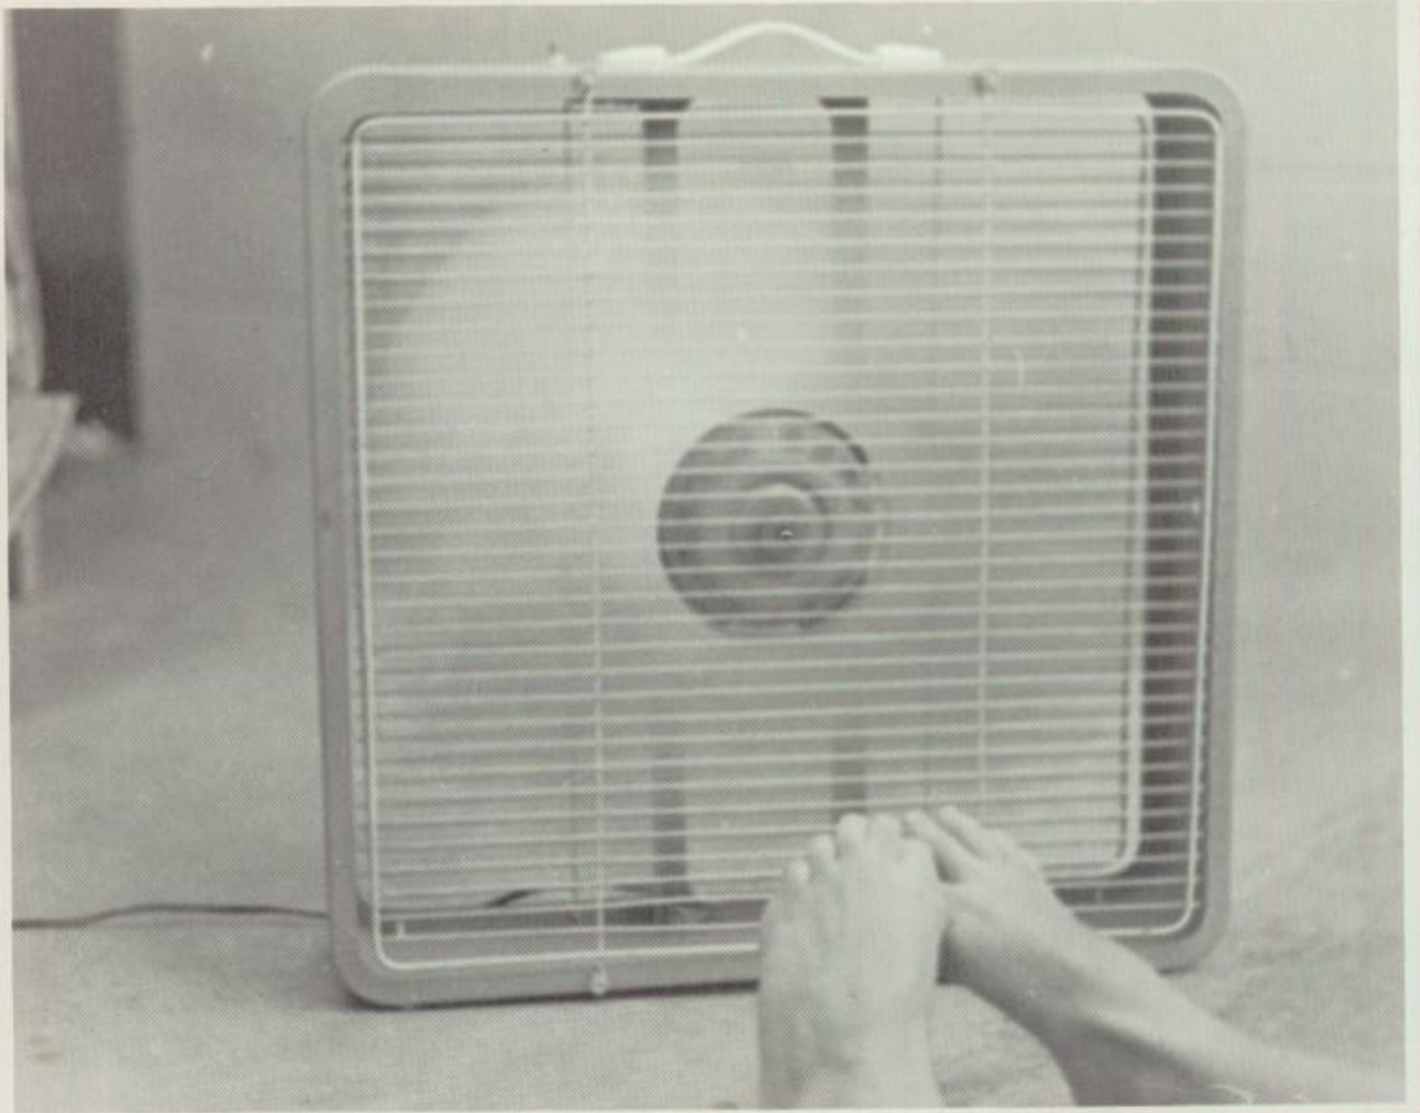

Co placidly amid the noise
and haste,
And remember what peace there may be in silence.
As far as possible without surrender
Be on good terms with all persons . . .
You are a child of the universe
No less than the trees and the stars;
You have a right to be here.
And whether or not it is clear to you,
No doubt the universe is unfolding as it should.
Therefore be at peace with God,
Whatever you conceive Him to be,
And whatever your labors and aspirations,
In the noisy confusion of life
keep peace with your soul.
With all it's sham, drudgery and broken dreams,
It is still a beautiful world.
Be careful.
Strive to be happy.

Desiderata

To dream the impossible dream,
 To fight the unbeatable foe,
 To bear with unbearable sorrow,
 To run where the brave dare not go.
 To right the unrightable wrong,
 To love pure and chaste from afar,
 To try when your arms are too weary,
 To reach the unreachable star!
 This is my quest,
 To follow that star,
 No matter how hopeless,
 No matter how far;
 To fight for the right
 Without question or pause,
 To be willing to march into hell for a heavenly cause!
 And I know,
 If only I'll be true
 To this glorious quest,
 That my heart will lie peaceful and calm
 When I'm laid to my rest,
 And the world will be better for this;
 That one man,
 Scorned and covered with scars,
 Still strove with his last ounce of courage
 To reach the unreachable stars!

Joe Darion

Debra,
We didn't have many classes together this year and the one(s) we did have together really sucked. It's been a blast having you in English class. I know how much you just love
Mrs. Jackson! I hope you have a super summer and I'll see you next year. Good luck and Best wishes always to a sweet and crazy girl.

Goodbye,

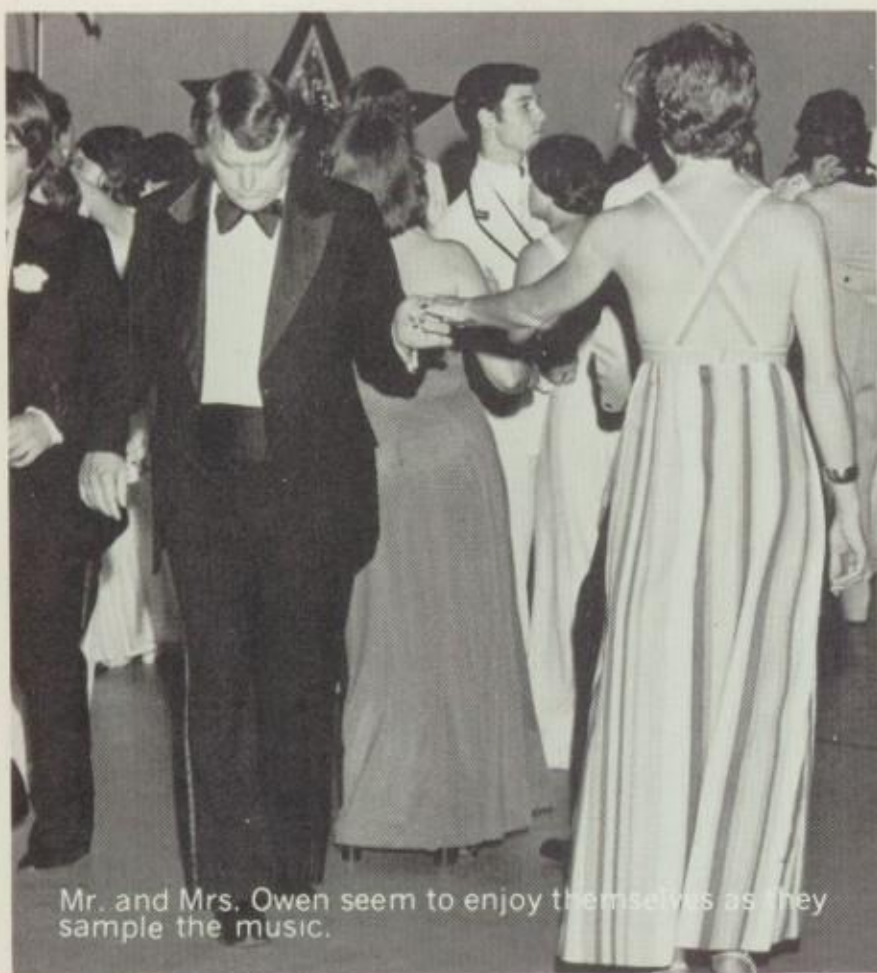

Love

Mary

GAMBLING . . . LAS VEGAS!

Mrs. Harry, class sponsor, is presented roses by Robert Nelms.

For Prom Night 1977, the otherwise drab NSA gym was transformed into a scene from a gambler's dream. Prom-goers had the opportunity to experience the flashy pleasures of Fremont Street, the flamboyant Las Vegas night life, and chance their luck at the casino's gaming tables. The casino featured an enlarged roulette wheel, a replica of a crap table and a wheel of fortune that displayed authentic currency. Prom guests enjoyed refreshments at a horseshoe shaped bar.

The Andrew Lewis Band, recording artists from Richmond, provided spectacular entertainment.

The unforgettable evening ended with prom-partiers enroute to Nags Head with memories to last a lifetime.

The summer of '77 will long be remembered by NSA students. From Japan to Germany and from California to Florida, NSA students could be found. Others dug ditches, a few sat behind counters and some waited on tables.

As the summer began to close, the final trips to the beach were made. Everyone was grateful for the last warm days as the cool air began to fill the atmosphere. But now only memories remain of the extremely hot but super summer of '77.

Field Day Nets Over $14,000

Despite Rain

The Moon Walk gave many weak legs and lots of fun.

Fun was provided for all ages.

Miss Moring helps the PTO decorate by hanging booth dividers.

Despite rain, the outside rides drew a crowd.

Although Field Day was a dismal, dreary, and rainy day this year; the air was still charged with excitement and the sounds of laughter from children.

Mrs. Alice Beaton served as Chairman of Field Day this year. With her help and that of numerous co-workers, the P.T.O. netted well over $14,000.00.

Perhaps the most interesting booths were those consisting of the raffles. For the price of $1.00 patrons could take a chance on winning one of three prizes; an all expense paid cruise for two, $500.00 in cash, or one year's tuition for one child paid free.

Along with the raffles, some of the most successful booths (just to mention a few) were the Greenthumb, Stichwitchery, Peanut Patch, Haunted House, The Maze, Toss' about, and last but not least, the Outside Rides.

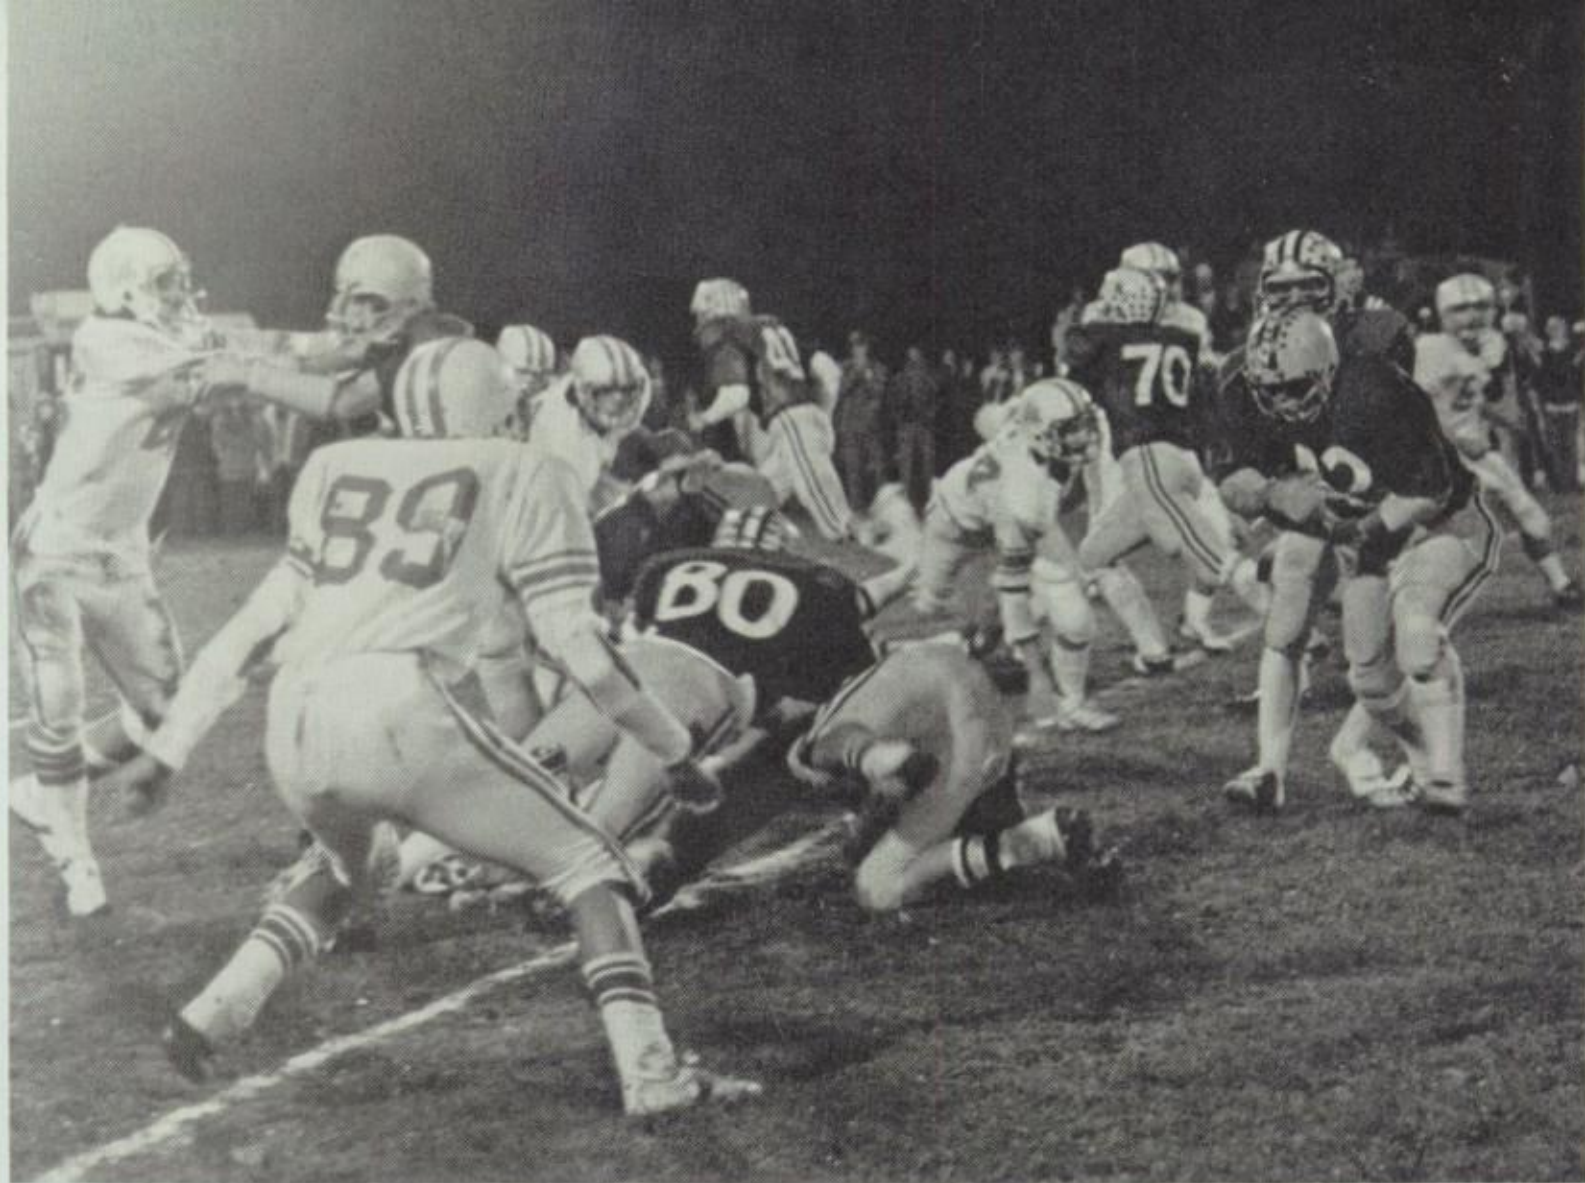

This was a day for both old and young alike, a day in which the "kid" comes out in all of us.

Much planning and creative thinking turned the gym to a bright harvest bazaar.

Good coaching, determination, skill, and a little bit of luck meant plays such as this and victories over Broadwater and ISA.

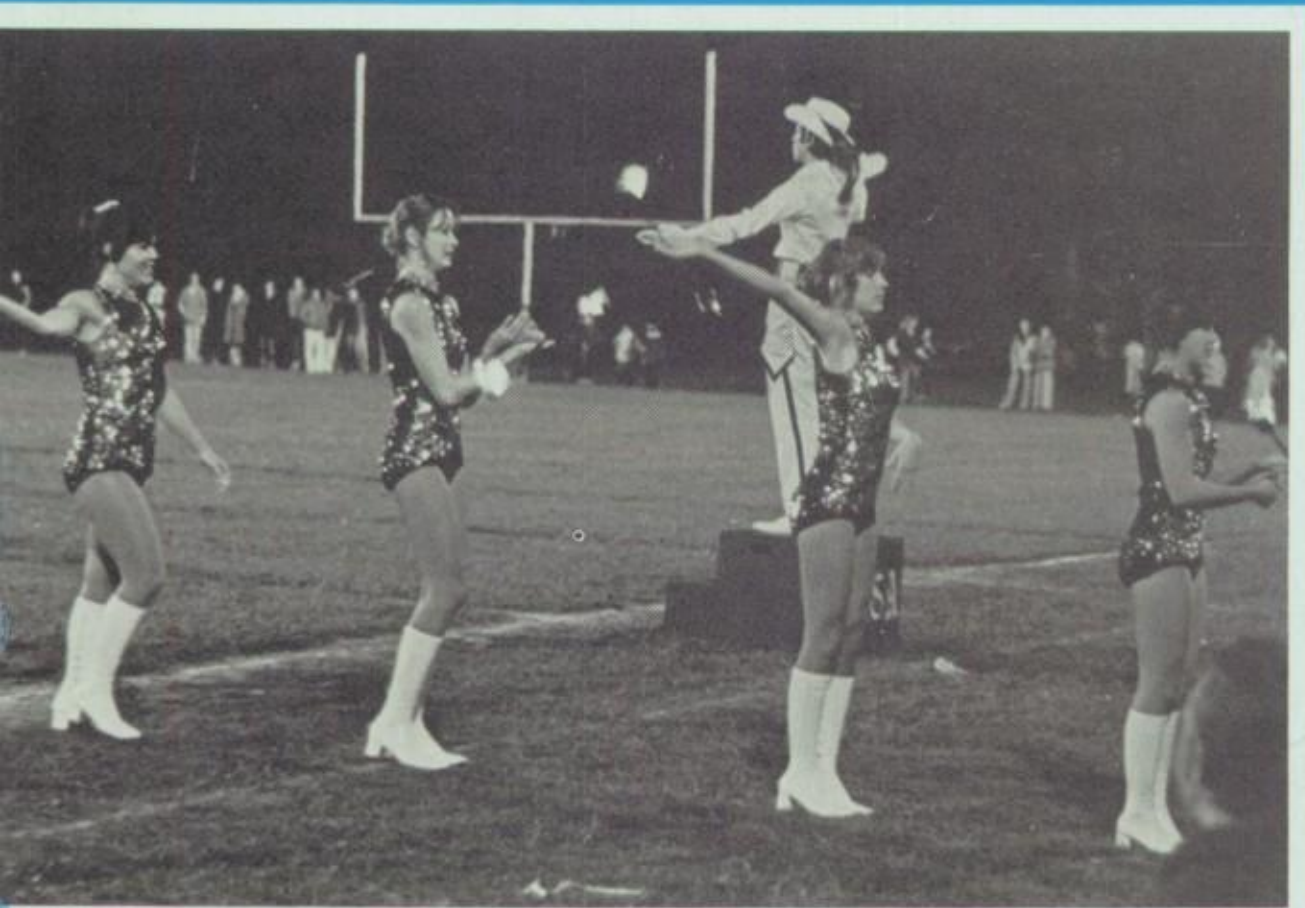

Spirit week meant days of different dress such as "hat day."

A beaming Wende Berkett is crowned the 1977 homecoming Queen. Below, she is flanked by Maid of Honor Mary Stroud, Senior attendants Lisa Witt and Sherri Gabbert, and Junior attendants Melonie Allen and Betsy Beard.

Homecoming Successful— Both Nights

The Senior class float said "Victory or Bust."

During half time the majorettes twirled fire batons and the band put on an impressive performance.

Homecoming week is one of the busiest weeks of preparation during our school year, and this year was no exception, with the student body being involved and participating in such activities as hall competition (which was won by the Seniors) Spirit Week, Pep Rallies, and of course working on the floats.

Although we were ready for the Broadwater Vikings mentally, physically, and spiritually; the weather apparently was not, for it rained the entire day and turned the Homecoming game into a mud bowl. However, confident of their own skills, and feeling the surge of spirit from the student body, the Saints won the game and set the mood for the Homecoming dance with an astounding score of 35 to 0.

The only damper of the evening was of course the rain itself, which postponed the judging of the floats and the half time show.

The following week was our game with arch-rival Isle of Wight and once again the student body busied itself, for this game was designated as the judging of the floats. The halftime show was also slated for this game as well as the crowning of the Homecoming Queen.

With a demanding lead the team retired to the locker room while the festivities started. The band then took the field and gave a splendid half-time show.

As the excitement began to mount, Mr. Owens announces what every girl dreams for, the chance to become the homecoming Queen, and for Wende Burkett that dream came true. Along with Wende, Mary Stroud was crowned the Maid of Honor.

After all of this the judging of the floats took place and the Sophomore class took first place.

With the support of the crowd the Saints returned to take the field and finished off Isle of Wight with a 17 to 0 victory.

Mr. Russell Stienger conducted an impressive Norfolk Symphony Orchestra.

To add depth and tone to the year's educational experience, a new and innovative series of cultural programs were planned and provided by the Board and Cultural Committee, headed by Mrs. Sue Draper. These presentations were made to enable the student body to obtain views of different kinds of music and art. Included were the Norfolk Symphony orchestra, The Norfolk Civic ballet, Shakespearean Players, and Bill Deal and the Rhondels to top it all off.

Picturesque Campus

Depict a School of rapid Advancement

Set amidst acres of flora and fauna, Nansemond-Suffolk Academy's buildings are ranked among the best in the state. The lower school, completed in 1970, originally housed grades 1-11, pending completion of the upper school. In 1972, this facility was completed and ready for the arrival of the anxious upperclassmen. The campus has continued to grow and now includes an outstanding football field, baseball and softball fields, excellent playgrounds, a beautiful nature trail, and five superb asphalt tennis courts. It is, by no means, complete, however. Construction plans included a cafeteria and science building, air conditioning and a new wing for the lower school.

Above: The upper school building is where most of the students' many academic hours are spent.

Fashion of 1977 and '78

Khakis are worn as casual ware by both sexes.

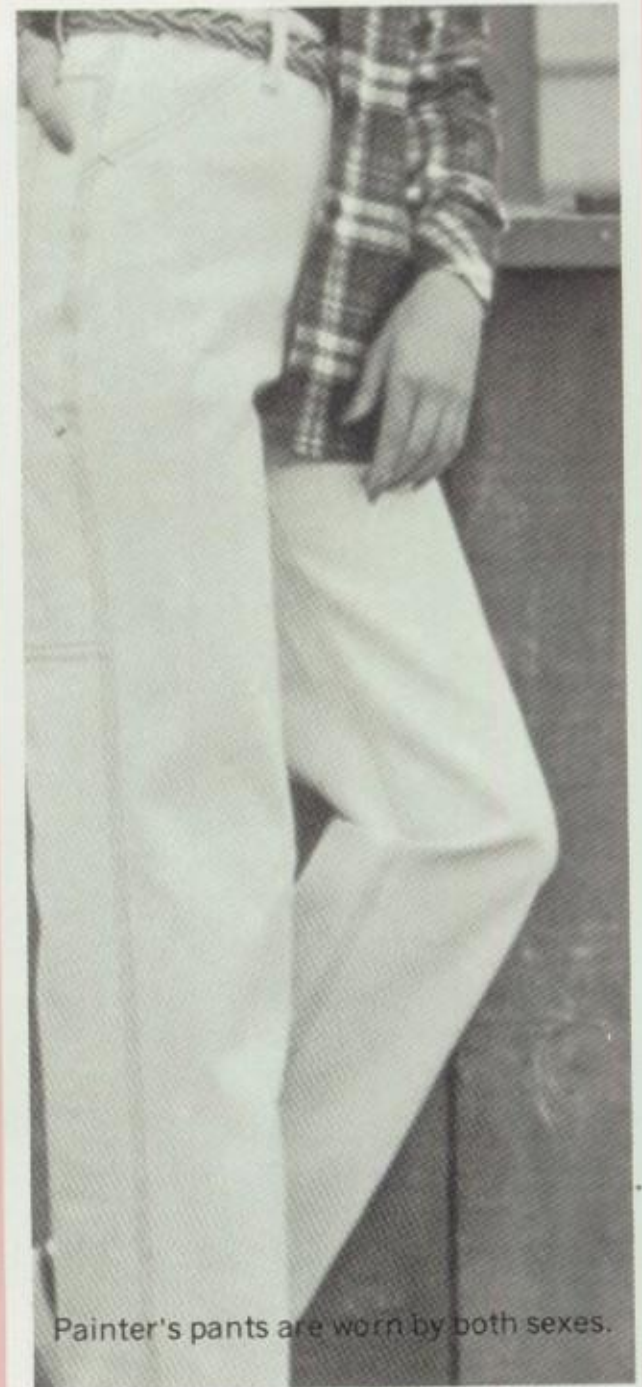

The three piece suit is fashionable for dress.

The button-down collar is back!

The cowl neck is worn dozens of ways, but always is soft.

Painter's pants are worn by both sexes.

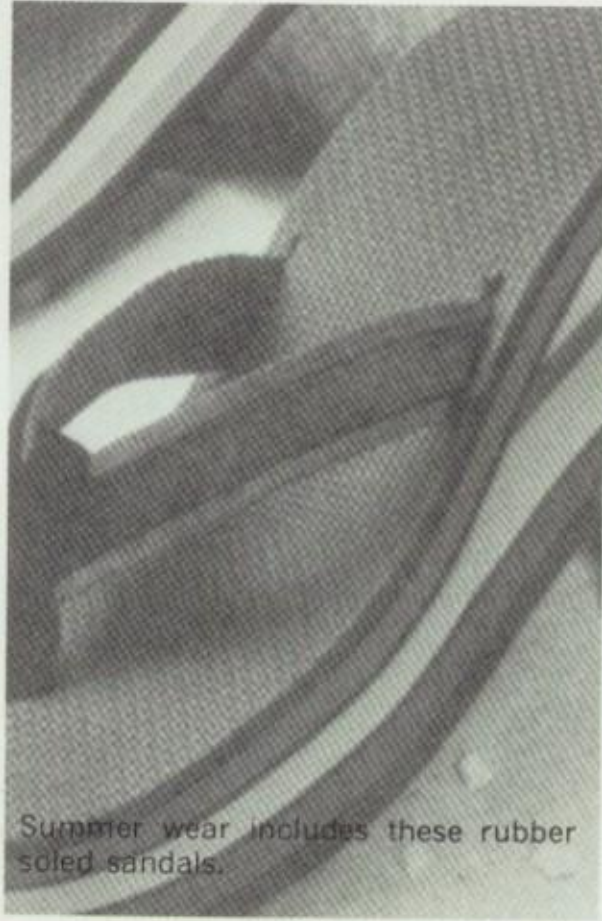

Varied And Original

Perhaps ten, fifteen, or twenty years from now you may pick up this annual from a dusty shelf and reflect upon your high school years. One important aspect of those days, you'll remember, will be the various styles and fashions popular at that time.

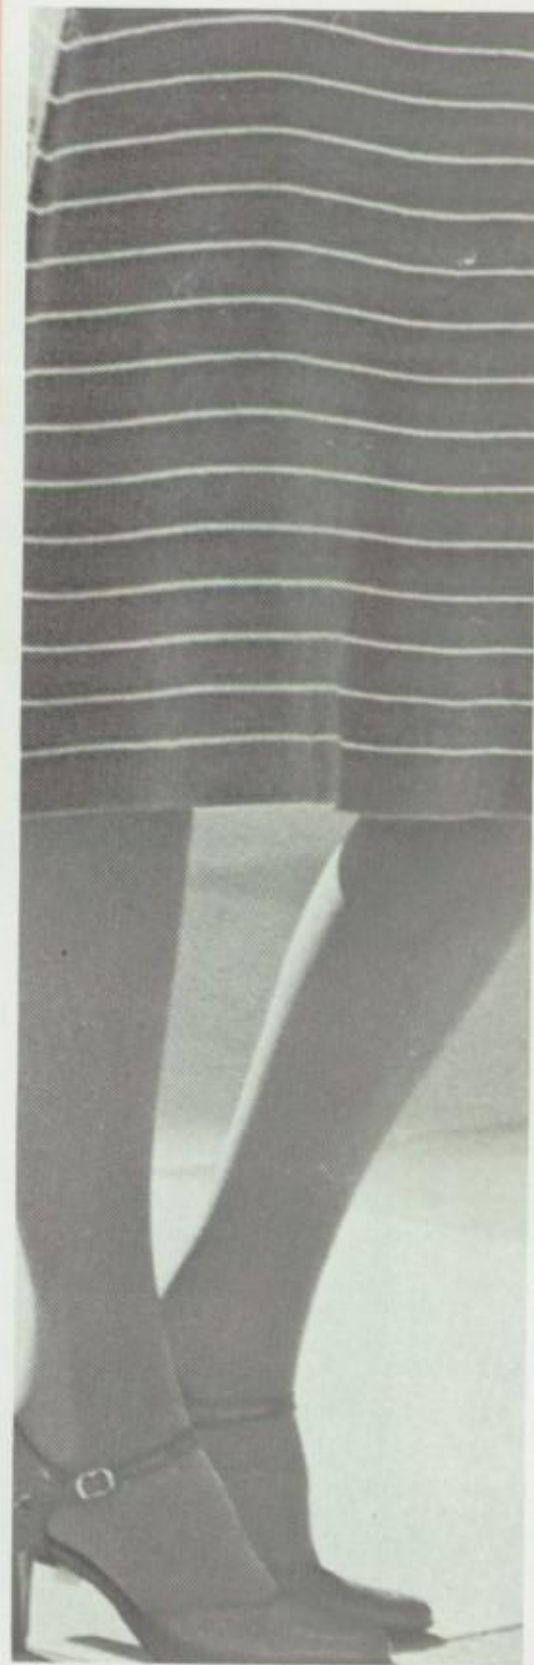

If all students came to school wearing the same thing, school would be considerably less interesting. Fashion is important to both guys and gals and what people wear often tells something about their personality. In any case, like people, 1977-78 fashions are varied and original.

Gauchos are popular with boots.

Summer wear includes these rubber soled sandals.

The dress and skirt are back!

Boots of all descriptions are popular with everything from skirts to pants.

Suffolk abounds with history in that it was founded in 1747. The train station in downtown Suffolk is an example of Victorian architecture.

Planters is located in Suffolk and is one of the city's #1 employers.

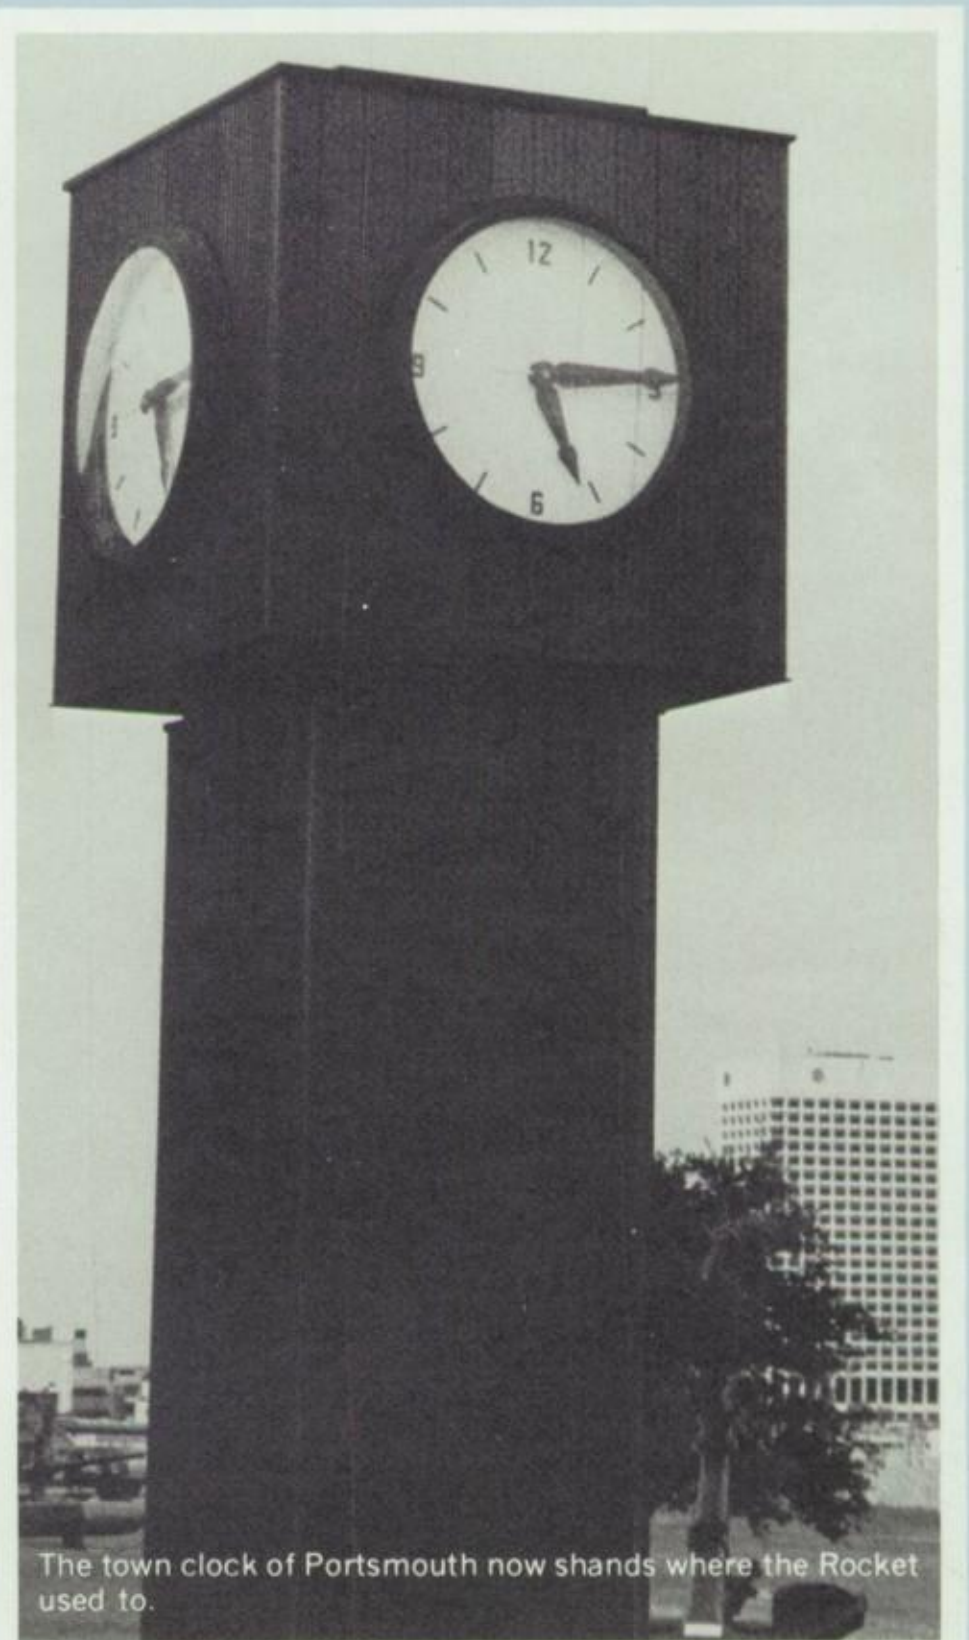

Lake Prince is a popular fishing spot located in rural Suffolk. Over 75% of Suffolk is rural with farming the #1 profession.

Saints Community Suffolk

Peanut Capitol of the World

Suffolk is the largest city in Virginia since the merger with Nansemond. It's southern border touches North Carolina and Nansemond-Suffolk even has students from there. Other industry, besides Planters, includes Lipton Tea, the G. E. Electric Plant, and Hobbs Implement Manufacturers. However, Suffolk's biggest industry is farming, which includes peanuts, corn, soy beans, several grains, and some tobacco and cotton.

Portsmouth All American City

Portsmouth, in contrast to Suffolk, is predominately urban. Shopping centers abound and are topped off with the relatively new Tower Mall. Probably the largest employer in Portsmouth is the Navy Yard. Here, huge vessels are built and repaired. Also, being a port on the Elizabeth River, importing and exporting are big industries as well.

The seawall of Portsmouth is an excellent place to view the Norfolk skyline.

Dating and Entertainment

A Big Part of High School Life

Students from grades eight to twelve may not study the same things, but they do have one thing in common — a big part of their lives consist of dating and entertainment. Entertainment takes many different forms whether it be sports or a party. The variety of things to do is infinite! Sports, band, cheerleading, clubs— these are only a few of the activities open to students at school.

Outside school there are certainly many things done by students for entertainment. Whether spending a quiet evening at home or out partying with the gang, you can wager students are having fun!

Twin bridges is a favorite spot for many students to meet.

TV is definitely a big part of students' lives.

"Soap," although a questionable show, is one of students' favorites and reflects society as it is today.

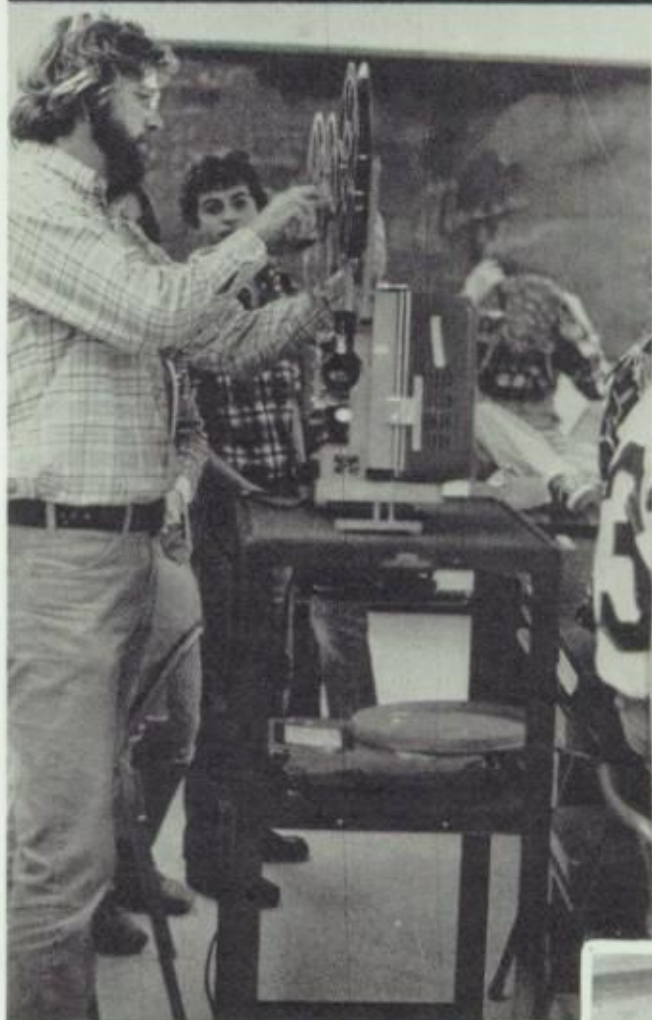

In 1977, the science fiction masterpiece, "Star Wars" took the country by storm.

Concerts, such as this one with Boz Scaggs, are electrifying entertainment with thousands of people and loud, loud music.

The math department has had anything but a boring year. Teachers have attended meetings of the Tidewater Council of Mathematics Teachers and various other organizations, from which they have learned a great deal. Students have undertaken various projects in all levels, and have enjoyed a host of field trips. The emphasis has been placed not only upon the learning of mechanics of mathematics, but also the practical applications, as the students have delved into studies of the stock market, graphs, and metric system.

As for the English Department, they too, have had diversified activities. Members of the various classes have visited the Chrysler Museum on several occasions, and the juniors were given an overnight trip to Williamsburg. In addition to a new class, Advanced Placement English, has been added to the curriculum, designed predominately to better prepare students for college work.

The history classes cover everything from the surface of the earth to the inner workings of our government. Social studies classes offered are U.S. history, geography, government and a new two year class, World Studies. This class is designed to cover world history and man's social involvement in that history.

In any case, those completing the classes are considered to have an excellent foundation and knowledge of the business world.

Students participating in the class were required to pass thirty-six hours of classroom instruction and fourteen hours of on-the-road driving. After the Driver's Education program was completed, the students began their regular Physical Education classes.

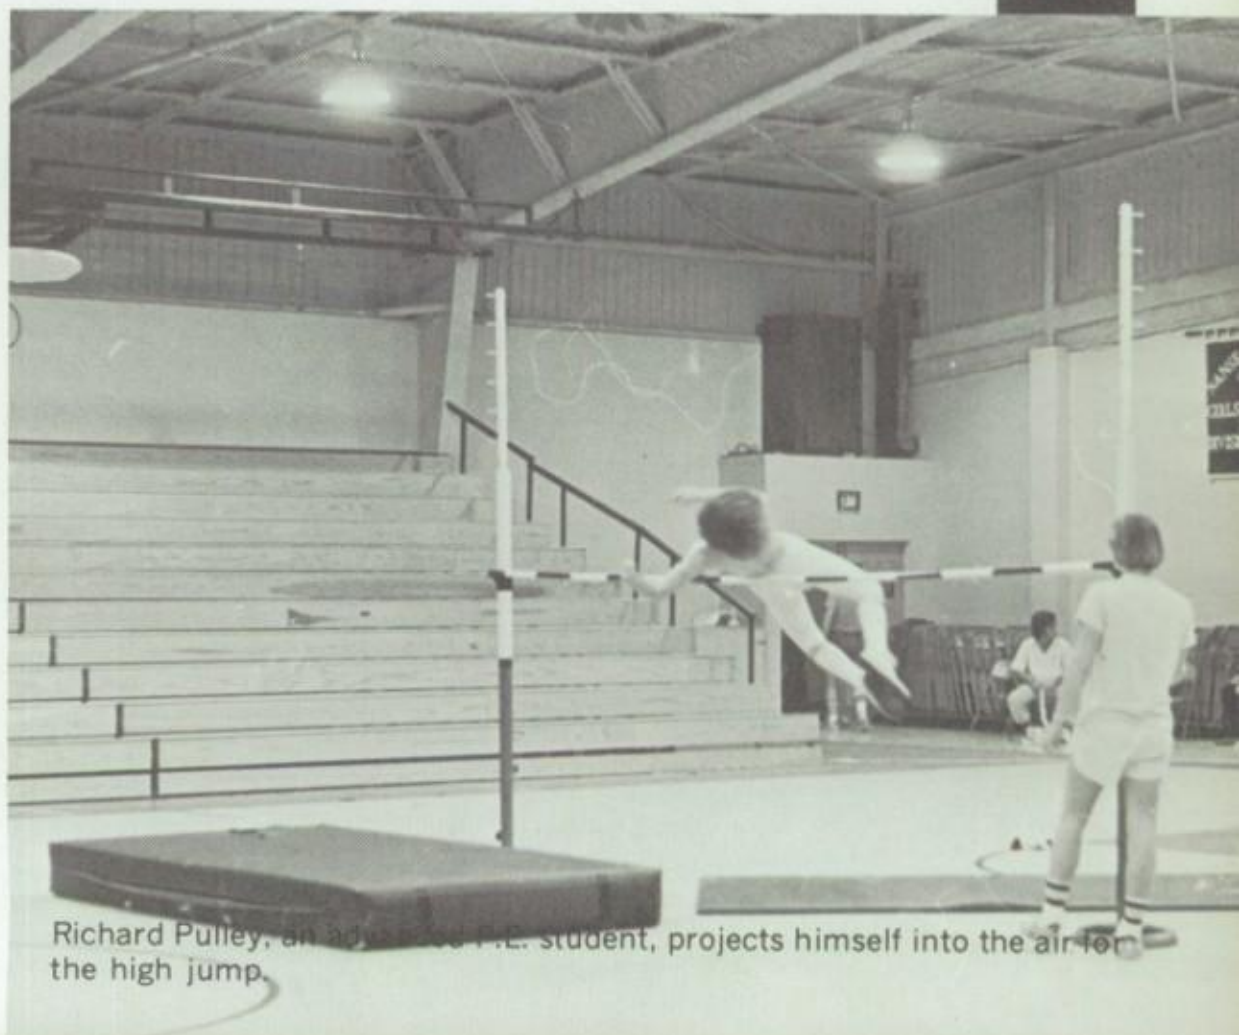

Advanced Physical Education classes were taught by Mr. Crigger and Mrs. Wilson, and were quite similar to the regular classes but were offered only to Juniors and Seniors.

Among the types of Physical Education programs offered are basketball, softball, baseball, volleyball, and gymnastics. The gymnastics program is one which has grown greatly this year, as quite a bit of new equipment has been added. Each of the teachers hopes, however, to receive more equipment next year.

Art, Home Ec and Mechanical Drawing

From the strumming of the cheese against the grater to the medley of timers signaling "take out time," Home Economics and Bachelor Living have held an active part at NSA. Some of the things these classes plan to do include fashion shows and a mock wedding.

French classes are more than dialogue, conversation and grammar, as exemplified by these French Valentines.

Foreign Languages Give NSA Students A Taste of Other Lands

The foreign language department offers three years of Latin, three years of French and five years of Spanish. Also included in the curriculum is a new class, Advanced Placement Spanish, designed to prepare students for the Advanced Placement Examination given in the spring.

Also included in the Spanish classes' year is the annual trip to Spain. Until last year, this was the only foreign language trip, but the French classes were given the opportunity to go to and experience French Canada's Quebec. Hopefully many more trips are in the future, designed to provide fun and learning experiences for the students.

Bands Develop New Routines And Increase Precision

The 1977-78 year was one of growth and adjustment for the band. Not only did they make several key changes due to the loss of a number of musicians, but they developed many new formations in their marching routines and increased their precision greatly. Their selections at half-time included everything from traditional marches to contemporary music such as the theme from "Rocky".

They marched in parades and entered several competitions, coming away from the Chowan College Contest with an impressive second place trophy.

It is obvious that the members of the band have received excellent training which may produce many fine and talented musicians.

In charge of leading the marching band are Field Marshals Lynn Griffin and Harry Sharpe.

Academic Honors

Throughout one's high school career, the report card is probably the most important representative of one's work. Its "Health" is guarded closely and any change in its "vital signs" often causes much concern. But, for those having maintained and nurtured an admirable high school record, there are tokens of approval and honor. Often it is for a high grade point average, high board scores, or sometimes, for the performance of a student in his or her community. In either case, much work, determination, and dedication are involved and for this, they are commended as an honor student.

The Beta Club is a national honor society for students with a 3.0 (or better) of a possible 4.0 average. However, other qualifications must be met. Perspective members must show honesty, leadership, responsibility, maturity and other admirable qualities.

This year's club, under the leadership of sponsor Mrs. Sherard and President Becky Fry, sponsored a game room at field day, which raised an incredible $260. Also, during national Beta week, they showed appreciation to the faculty.

March 17 and 18 members of the club attended for the first time the state Beta Convention in Roanoke, which was a week full of elections, various meetings, new friendships, and many new ideas for the Beta club of 1979.

JOURNALISM ... CREATES REFLECTS AND PUBLISHES

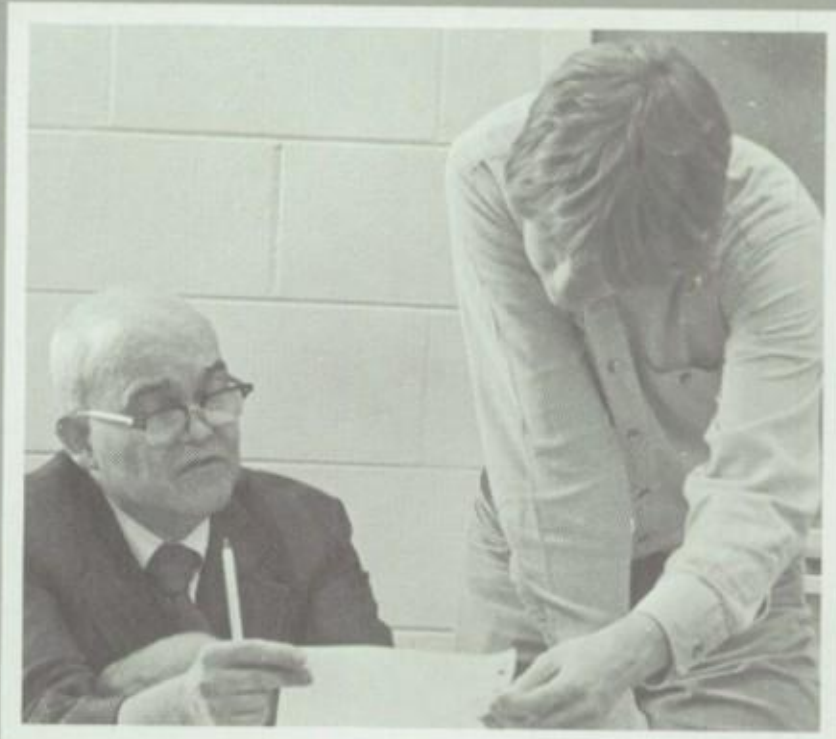

Journalism is a small class, but out of this class come big memories. The class is responsible for publishing the annual and the school newspaper, both of which involve a magnitude of creative work.

For the Scroll, copy has to be written, pictures are always being taken and there is constantly a deadline to meet. New things have been used for the first time this year, such as spot color and the open class teaching method.

Hard work is also put into the newspaper. There is always a story to write, copy to be proofread and typing to be done. The banner for the paper was changed and the format is different from last year in that there is not a set page for sports, news, etc.

To ease the financial load, the class also sponsored a bar-b-que supper, raising $250.

But after all the hard work is finished, we see that through this we have reflected the memories of the year in just a few pages and all the extra time spent is proven worthwhile.

Sponsor, Mr. Holbrook, helps David with some copy.

The Senior Tri-Hi-Y is a club brought about to bring the christian attitudes to all people.

They worked by selling Benson fruit cakes in which they made a tremendous profit. Thirteen members were able to go to the Model General Assembly to tell the people of our bill we wished to have passed. Our bill concerned stiffening parole standards.

Debbie Jordan the club president worked hard to form the club and keep it moving. She has worked extra hard to get the work done and get it done right.

The Junior Tri-Hi-Y is a group set up to promote good christian attitudes and standards. Their sponsors, Mrs. Small and Mrs. Griffin gave them their guidance to keep their club in harmony.

They did various things in raising money; one was selling bill boards to make enough money for a profit. Their president, Nancy Grimstead did a dynamic job in helping them when they had questions.

The Junior Tri-Hi-Y is a club the members should be proud to be a part of this unique club. They should stay in tune and keep their ideas in harmony with each other to work more and achieve more to help out others. The Senior Tri-Hi-Y is very proud of this club because so far the club looks like it will be a very prosperous club when they are in the Senior Tri-Hi-Y.

“FHA Is Really Cooking”

Mrs. Jones, the new home-ec teacher, took over the job as FHA sponsor this year. Meeting once a month, the members have been involved in various activities. At Christmas time the hard workers made ornaments and took them to the hospital so that the sick children could enjoy a vacation also. Their fund raising event for the year was selling candy in order to buy badly needed utensils.

“FTA Puts Its Members To The Test”

The FTA meetings under the leadership of Mrs. Lynch were held once a month and consisted of programs with various speakers on the different phases of education. They helped the SCO by making decorations for the Sweetheart Ball and once again offered a hundred dollar scholarship to anyone working in the field of education. Last year's recipient of this award was LuAnne Carr, who now attends Radford College.

“FBLA Means Business”

FBLA members practice thier shorthand.

The FBLA has really been busy this past year and so have the many speakers who have talked to them about the areas of business being offered ranging from secretarial to real estate. Field trips were planned for several of the meetings and the week of February 13 was designed FBLA Week when each member was expected to do something nice for an appreciated teacher.

A Monogram is one way of awarding students for outstanding achievements in sports. Only if a player is on a varsity team and has participated in a sufficient number of games, may he or she receive the coveted N-SA letters. Sponsor, Mr. Terry Crigger, has been able to award many letters this year.

Forensics

Mrs. Bryant, working with original speeches and prose, and Mrs. Sharp sponsoring poetry, kept the N-SA Forensics Club in order.

The N-SA Forensics Club participated in the Forensics meet at Kenston Forest this year and also presented a play, "You Can't Take it With You."

The club deals with promoting public speaking in areas of dramatic reading, prose and poetry, original writing and speeches and dramatic soliloquy.

Equal Squads

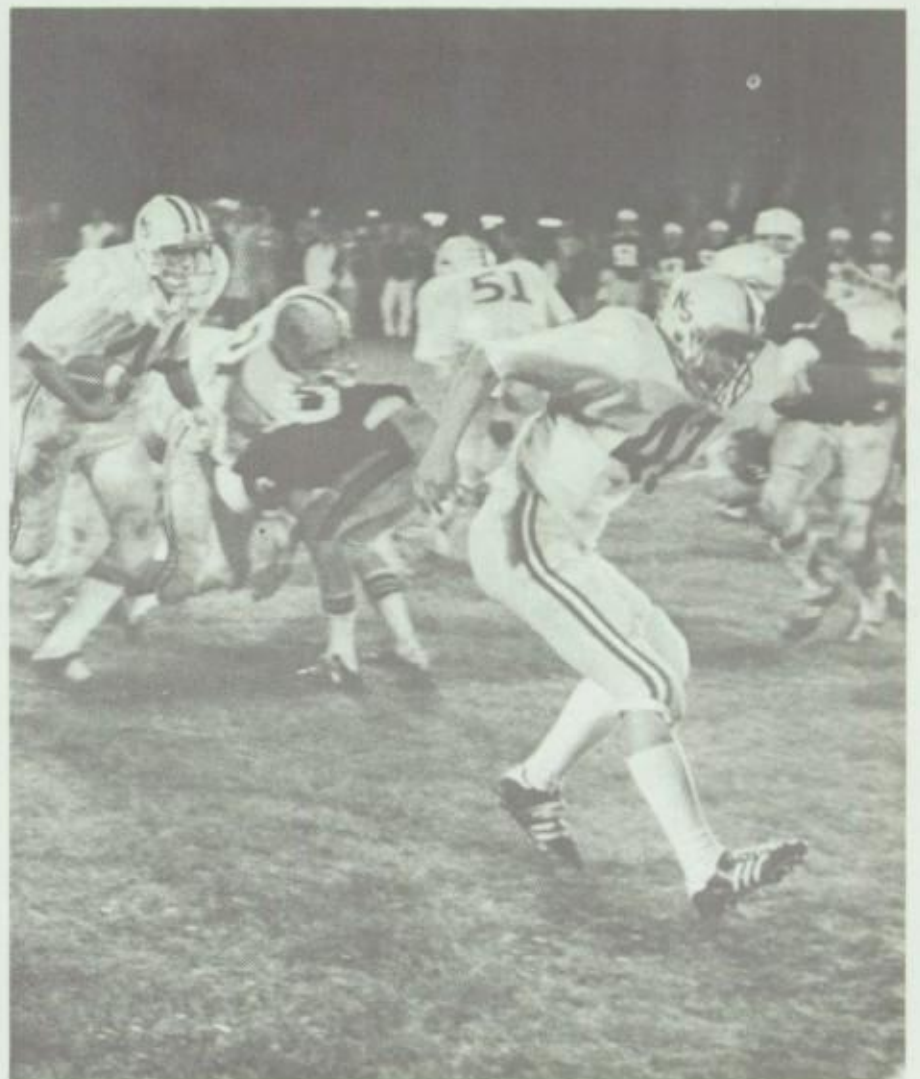

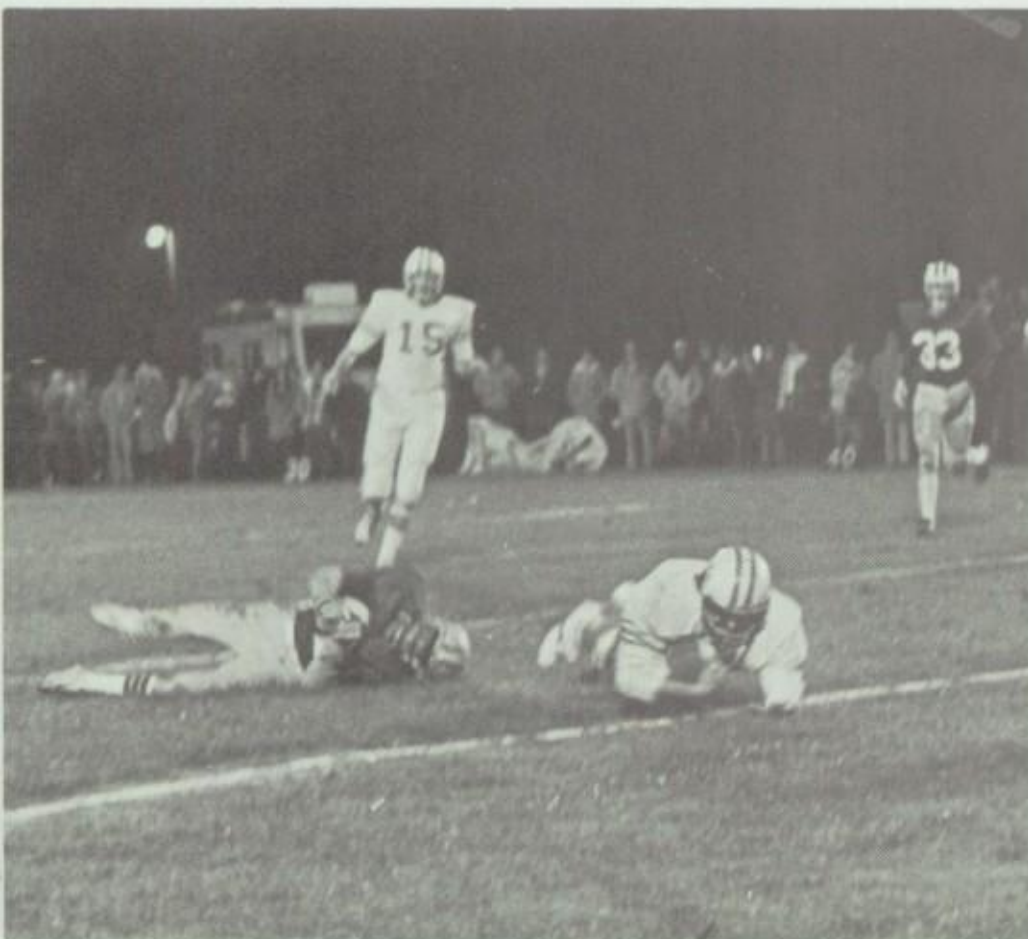

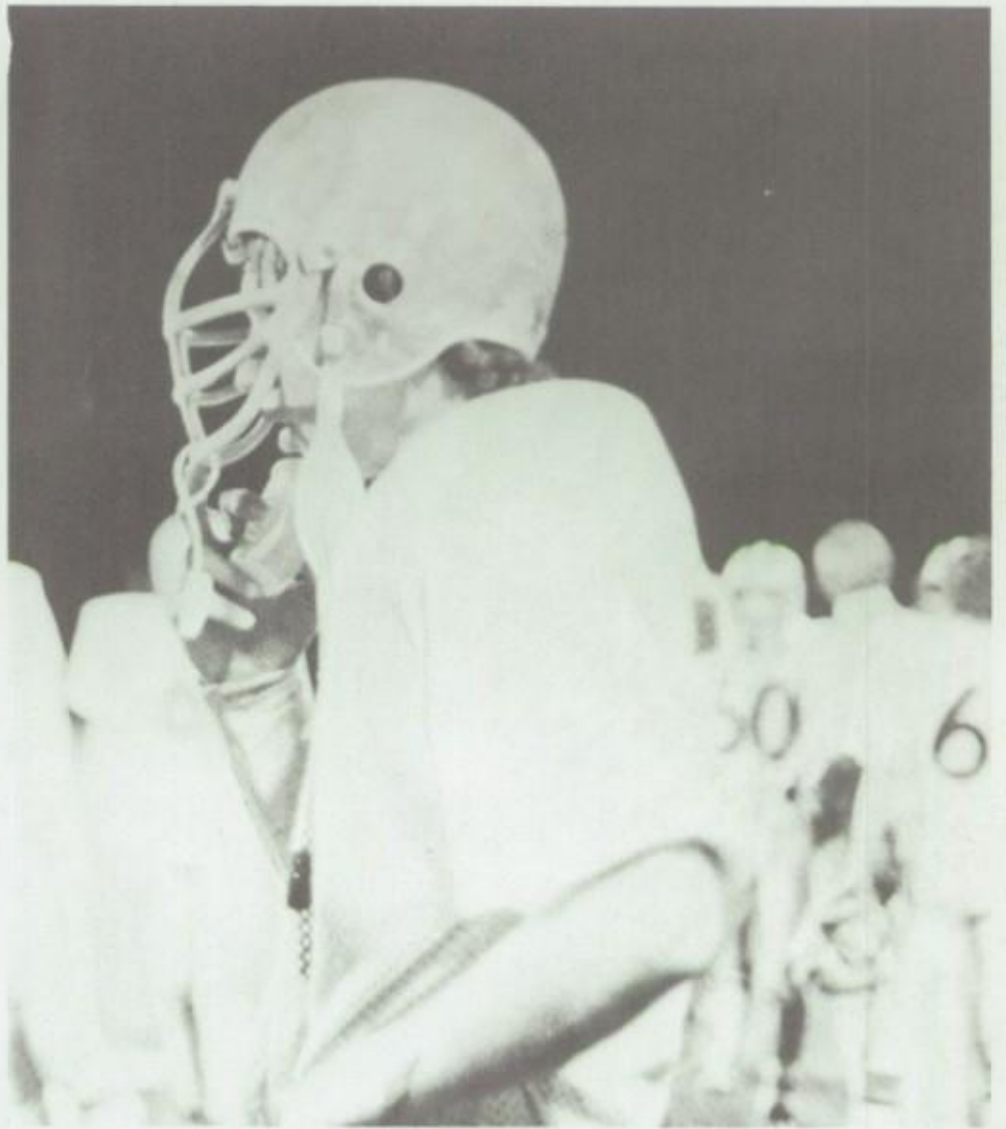

In the fierce, humid, August heat, thirty-five hot players dreamed of the surf at Nags Head, the pool or anything cool and refreshing. Their dream is broken by shouts of "move it" and "hit those dummies — harder," and they wonder if it is all worth it. It was worth it!

It was this kind of dedication that produced an Eastern division co-champ and team with equal offensive and defensive squads. In ten games, the Saints averaged 22.4 points a game, scoring over 40 twice, while their opponents averaged only 12.6. Only once did the Saints allow their competition to score over 20 and that was 21, by Gill.

A rained out Friday night contest with Southampton produced a Saturday nightmare. It was this loss to Southampton that produced the tie for first, but a shut-out over arch rival, Isle of Wight ended the season with a good note.

J.V. Girls Basketball Team Rebuilds

 Even though the J. V. girl's basketball team did not have a winning season, their efforts were well worth while. The team, who lost seven players from the previous year, consisted of two tenth graders, five ninth graders, and four eighth graders. Mrs. Wilson, the coach, believed that this inexperienced team progressed and learned by every game and by the end of the season were 100% better.

First row: Steve Sealy, Fleet Smith, Grant Rogers, Mark Burton, Scott Whitmore, Leslie Welch, David Redden, Mike Griffin. Second row: Coach Pete Carr, Jay Gabbert, Larry Robertson, Will Griffin, Kevin Milteer, Jim Taylor, Scott Pendorf, Jeff Daily, Coach Phil Johnson. Third row: Clay Kabler, Scoop Goldman, Allen Ballard, Ronnie Jordan, Daryl Russell, Danny Holly, Russell Cooper, Troy Crocker. Fourth row: Billy Wallace, Troy Thomas, Troy Perry, Chuck Honeycutt, Terry Crigger, Max Morehead, Kent Eudy, Carl Opauski.

 The J.V. boys football team provided the school this past year with exciting games. For the first year, this team beat Isle of Wight and almost made it to the championship. They won four games, only lost one and tied two. The team and coach were proud of their record and look forward to next year.

Amy Goldman cautiously guards an Isle of Wight player.

For the first time in the history of the school, the girls' varsity basketball team received the honor of being the champs of the VAAC Eastern division.

Averaging 50 points a game, they went to the first game of the state championship and defeated Brunswick. However, in the semifinals, they lost to Prince Edward who went on to win the title.

Under the supervision of second year coach, Betty Jean Riddick, the team worked hard, practicing most of August after school and even on Saturdays. They maintained their composition during many of their closest games to pull ahead with stunning victories. Going from fourth place last year to first this year, they surprised many and defeated many good teams.

Once again, Nansemond Suffolk Academy Saints have proven superior with another winning season. After losing valuable players from last year, many people had doubts as to whether the season would be successful or not. Coach Bill Owen chased away most doubts by showing unshakable faith in his players. "Team play" was the motto for this season and the guys certainly took it to heart and worked in harmony on the court. The team displayed great spunk, determination, desire to win, and they showed a lot of class on the court. With a solid second place in the conference, the Saints headed for Randolph Macon to strive for the rank they held last year in the tournaments.

The 1977-78 J.V. Basketball squad consisted of two experienced players and ten new ones. This lack of experience didn't stop them from reaching high goals. Starting the season, they weren't too impressive but as the year progressed their talents exceeded expectations. The J.V. Saints played as a team and learned new skills in each bout. They excited Saints' fans with several overtime games. Coach Pete Carr accomplished very much and helped improve the team.

Cheer A Little, Cheer for NSA

Senior Kathy Bowman and Sophomore Mary Simpson sit back and take it easy.

Gigi Birdsong prefers to keep her coat on as she visits an unheated gym.

Cheerleading is more than wearing a uniform and jumping up when your team scores. Cheering involves lots of co-operation, understanding, love and a lot of hard work. Probably the only time you see cheerleaders is at a football or basketball game, but a lot more goes on behind the scenes.

Cheering starts with try-outs in the spring, cheering camp and practices in the summer and then the big reward: the first football game of the season!

Being under the lights, watching the guys for the first time and being in front of a great crowd makes all the hard work worthwhile. In the rain, wind or shine if there is a game to be played, there are cheerleaders to sing the praises of our teams.

"Riding the bus for hours and coming home victorious we have a feeling of real success." We know that maybe we helped in just a simple way to gain that victory.

After the year is over a cheerleader is able to look back on all the beautiful memories and realize so much has happened so fast. It's easy to remember the little things that happened through each time. As a cheerleader, you grow so close that you feel as though every one of them is your very own sister.

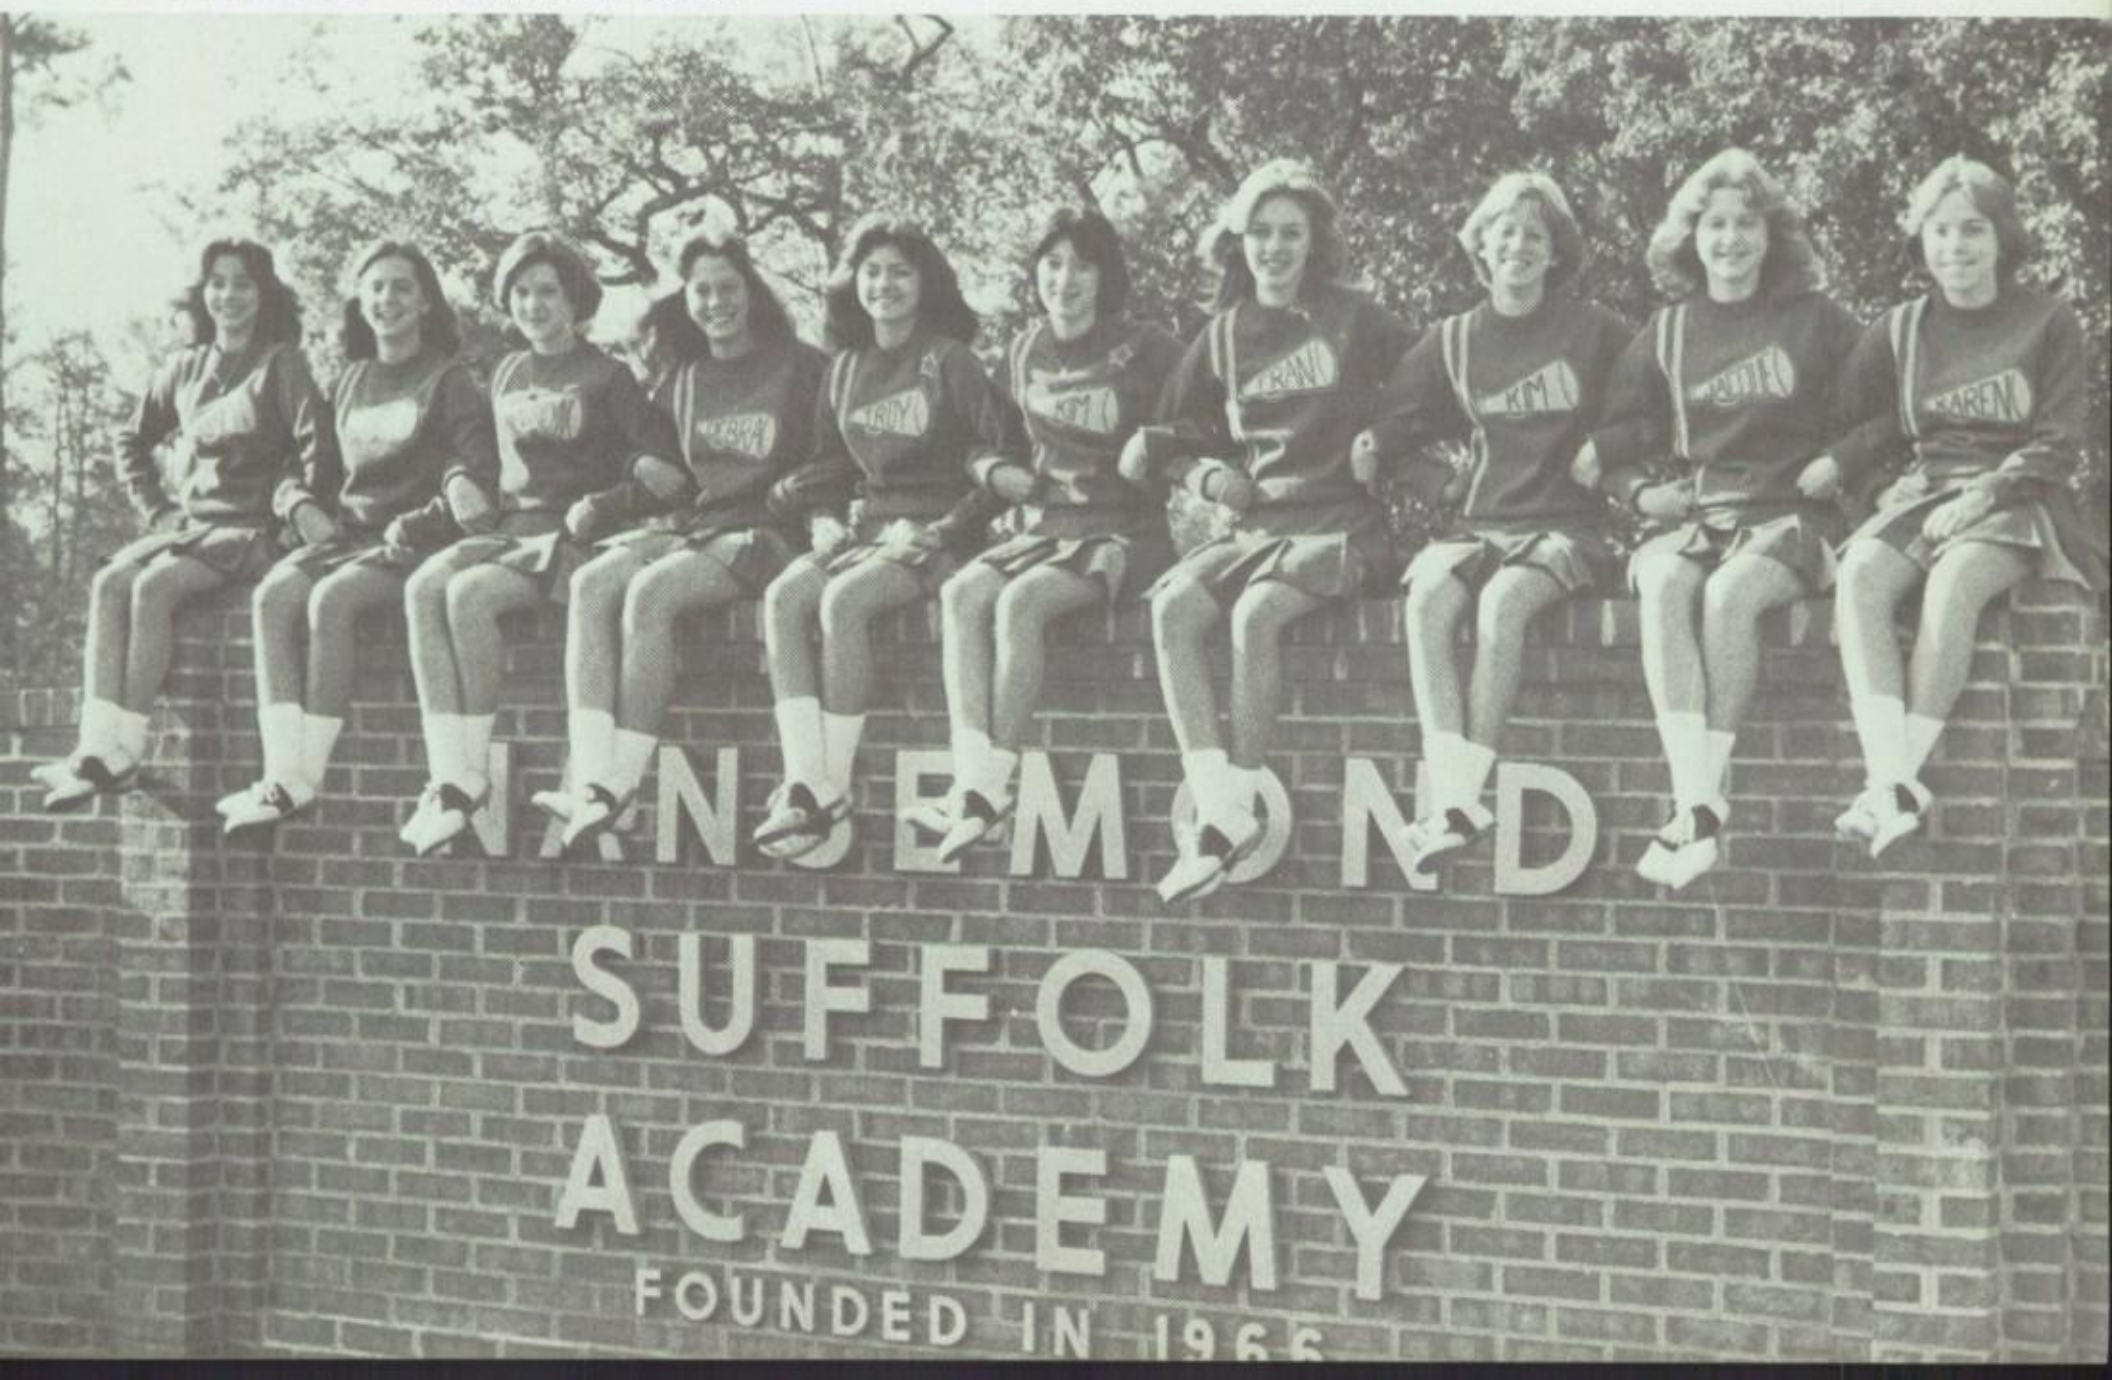

Melissa Darden believes that the floor is the place to be when you're sick of hard bleachers.

SPORTS HONORS

Towards the end of the various sports' seasons, coaches, conference leaders, and other sports' critics take on the task of naming those that have shown exceptional talents.

Often, numbers on paper tell the whole story, but sometimes, an athlete's attitude, spirit, sportsmanship, and other intangible qualities prove that athlete special and most valuable to that team's success.

It is to these people at NSA, who give us lasting and exciting memories, that the sports honors are given.

Traditionally, each edition of the Scroll is dedicated to one who has contributed to the growth and betterment of Nansemond-Suffolk Academy. This year, we, the staff, are proud to present the 1978 edition of the Scroll to Administrator Aurther E. Jones.

Although we are proud of his athletic and community accomplishments, we honor him for something else. We recognize his undying dedication to this institution, his neverending work toward its success, and his infinite love and care for the students that are NSA.

When funds were needed to expand our programs and purchase necessary materials, Mr. Jones brought the "Margin of Difference" program to the school, supplying it with over $200,000. In order to establish this school among the highest in the state academically, Mr. Jones worked diligently to earn the Southern Association of Academics and Universities' accreditation. Most of all, no matter how busy he is with the business of the school, he always takes time to listen to a student's problem with an understanding, wise, compassionate, and open mind.

He laughs with us, reprimands us, supports us, and most of all cares for us. He has shown us the tender spot for NSA that he has in his heart, and we now show him ours and say, "Thank you, Mr. Jones".

"Wow! You mean I'm really a SENIOR? I don't feel like one — when did this happen?" This was a thought expressed by many an astounded senior as he suddenly found himself entering the final stage of his high school journey.

Amidst the confusion of getting senior portraits made, changing schedules, and returning to the routine of school, we prepared ourselves for the year ahead. The rigors of such subjects as Advanced Placement English, Physics, and Calculus at first seemed rather ominous, but we all soon realized that it was possible to live through senior year.

The days, weeks, and months slowly passed. With them came college applications, exams (and exemptions!), ski trips, mugs, announcements, and those blessed college acceptance orders. Senior year was turning out to be everything we had expected.

Somehow, however, time seemed to leap from October to May, and we neared the end of our twelve-year struggle. Some members of the class — Ralph Howell, Robert Nelms, Shirley Culpepper, Debby Presson, Doug Saunders, and Cathy Blanchard, were leaving the only school they had ever attended, as they earned the distinction of being the first students to attend for twelve consecutive years. As we don our caps and gowns and prepare to leave, we take with us many happy memories, and try to make ready for all that lies ahead.

Look around and you'll find a friend
 It's not hard—but where do we begin We've come so far, this great class has
 From the beginning, we've been together.
 Together is our word and you know
 Together we've grown and learned
 Together we've laughed and cried
 Together we've played and studied
 Together we've succeeded through the toughest of battles
 And when the end comes Together we'll graduate—

Through thick and thin
 In failure and success
 We've shared some times we'll never forget—Homecoming floats, football games and basketball championships.
 We were a part—
 But soon we'll be leaving.

A single road ending up with a myriad of exits.
 We'll each find our road and then we'll follow it—
 no matter where it goes.
 Through the great woods and over the tallest bridges
 We'll climb every mountain 'til we reach the highest peak
 Because we are us
 We've got determination
 Determination with a capital D
 And if we trip or maybe fall
 Our old friends will lift us up
 So we can each be on our way

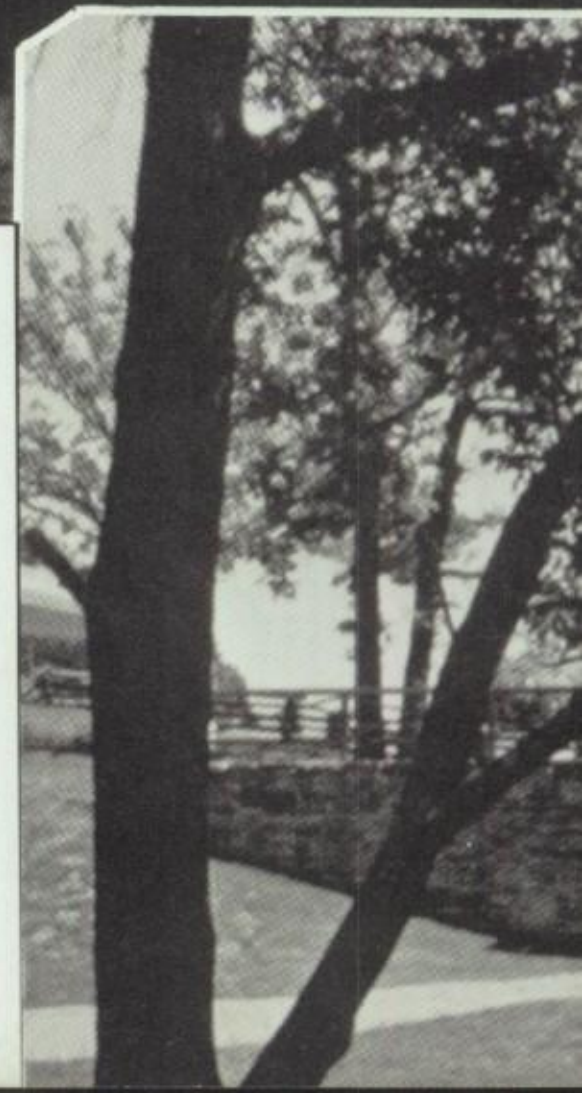

We produced a special feeling — only we could create
 Because we are the one, the only ...

For the class of 1979, the objective throughout the year was much as it had been in previous years—making money for the Junior-Senior prom in the spring. The Juniors went to work immediately and increased their treasury by selling cookies, manning the concession booth at ballgames, and cleaning up after Field Day.

The Junior year also included PSAT's, and for some, even SAT's. Towards the end of the year, an attempt was made to increase everyone's grade-point average. For the first time, many members of the class began considering their college choice. As the year concluded, they began to look forward to their upcoming Senior year.

Sophomores Reach Half- Way Point

The sophomore class reached the "half-way point" of their high school career. They found themselves faced with a variety of courses and experiences, as they strove to make this year a successful one. One of the class's greatest accomplishments was the award-winning float that they built for homecoming. Each member of the class also worked diligently at Field Day to raise money. Overall, it was an extremely eventful year for the Sophomores, and one which left them anxiously awaiting their upcoming role as Juniors.

This has been a year of increased unity for the Freshman class, as they have worked with their sponsors, Mrs. Small and Mr. Nichols. Everyone cooperated well on the cake walk project at Field Day, allowing them to add a hefty $251.00 to their treasury. They were also extremely proud of their two homecoming court representatives, Anne Cabbell Birdsong and Larilyn McDonald. It was an extremely successful year for the Freshmen, who learned and grew together.

THEATAMORES ADAPT TO YEAR OF CHANGE

One of Mrs. Small's eighth grade history classes discusses the Jamestown colonists.

Members of Mrs. Birdsong's homeroom work hurriedly to finish their assignments before class.

An eighth grader working in the office is eager for more work.

Is high school nothing but work, work, work?

For the Thetamore class, it was a year of great change.

This was their first year in the upper school, placing them in an entirely new scholastic environment.

Although the new experience at first seemed strange, the eighth graders adapted quickly to the change.

Along with the new challenges, however, came new privileges.

Suddenly, they found themselves able to attend dances, assemblies, and extra-curricular activities which had previously been unavailable to them.

They were, however, happy when the year neared an end, and they were close to being freshmen—no longer remaining at the "bottom of the totem pole".

The office help is never at a loss for work. Typing letters, and calling students to the office to meet their appointments are just a small portion of what they do. The students should realize if we didn't have manageable bus drivers and Mr. Weaver to gas up our buses for them many of us would have a long way to walk in the mornings and afternoons.

All the lower school help should be given a great deal of thanks for doing their jobs well.

They've only Just Begun

The first day of a kindergartener's school career is definitely a traumatic one for both mother and child. However, the tears soon diminish, and the youngsters anxiously await the next day of school. Letters, numbers, colors, naps, toys, and play periods with an abundance of friends are but a few of the aspects of the kindergartener's year. Learning becomes fun and fun becomes learning for children with open, bright, and inquisitive minds that never seem to think of enough questions to ask.

"Three R's? I thought there was only one in the alphabet!!" Indeed, 'readin', 'ritin', and 'rithmetic are but a few of the items on the first graders' curriculum. They delved into a study of Indian life which culminated in a field trip to Jamestown. Science, too, was introduced to their frame of reference as they learned to question the world around them. Everyday objects were classified according to such physical characteristics as hardness, softness, and sharpness. Though quite challenging, the year proved to be very enlightening for these young scholars.

The second graders' year was one of transition and enlightenment. Confronted with such obstacles as cursive writing and multiplication, these students quickly learned that this year was not to be so easy as the first. Their rudimentary knowledge of science was expanded to include such things as the solar system and animal life. The learning experience was enhanced when they attended a program at the planetarium which acquainted them with the sun, moon, stars, and planets. Also on their field trip agenda was a visit to Safety City, to reinforce their knowledge of safety rules. Most of the students seem to consider their second grade year both challenging and rewarding.

The third grade worked diligently this year learning many new and interesting things. They learned their multiplication tables through both memorization and several fun games of Multiplication Bingo. They refined their letter writing, studied the Pledge of Allegiance, and learned to spell the days of the week and the months. Also studied were the earth, universe, and human body. In addition to studying man's body, they also studied man's progression from prehistoric days. These many topics were topped off with a series of educational and fun field trips.

One of the fourth graders' many occupations this year was the study of the origins of Virginia and America. The students' knowledge of their state was broadened by visits to Jamestown and Williamsburg. As a part of their science program, the students studied the solar system and were given the privilege of visiting the Newport News Planetarium. Such outings are an integral part of the learning experience, and are certainly an enjoyable one for the students. These and other events aided in making this year a successful one for this enthusiastic young class.

Fifth grade students have enjoyed a very productive and innovative year. Their historical and geographical studies dealt predominately with the United States, but certain other areas of North America were covered. In mathematics, the students furthered their knowledge of multiplication and division, as well as being introduced to fractions, geometry, and the Metric System. Their science program began with an indoctrination into the basic parts of the cell, after which it turned toward the study of plants and animals. Certainly, the knowledge gained this year will prove to be of great value to the students in later years.

NSA's sixth grade classes have had many exciting moments, and have accomplished great feats in their scholastic endeavors. They have added to their knowledge of basic English grammar, and have strived to express themselves when composing their own poetry and prose. In addition, they devote a portion of each week's classroom time to public speaking. Reading class has afforded them an opportunity to improve both their vocabulary and comprehension, while math class has served to acquaint them with the basic geometric and algebraic concepts. Indeed, their sixth grade year has been one of great activity and intellectual growth.

High School Just Around The Corner for Seventh Graders

As leaders of the lower school, the seventh graders worked individually this year to become more mature. As impressed to them by their teachers, the seventh grade must set the examples for the rest of the lower school because they are the oldest and the younger students look to them. Also, the seventh graders are preparing for their high school career. Not only are they busy preparing their schedules for next year, and deciding which clubs to join, but, they are also trying to grow up and prepare for five of the most memorable years of their lives.

Debra,

This year has really flown by and I can hardly believe we'll be juniors next year. It's hard to believe we only met three years ago because it seems like I've known you a long time.

Cheering over the past two years has been great. And I've a feeling it's going to be even better next year. I can't wait until football!

Never forget Naps Head! I'll see you in August!

Debra,

I really don't what to say! We've had some really good talks this year. Remember our talk about the Sadie Hawkins and then I ended up not seeing anybody, if you know what I mean. What about our talk on the telephone about Peter Pan? sorry I couldn't help but I wouldn't tell me whether it was you or not! Don't worry, just keep work-

I really appreciate all your help when we had our discussions on Martini Richardson, the punk, I guess it didn't really matter but boy were they a trip!! If you ever in Suffolk this summer come see me and maybe we can go to an antique auction or something. (Maybe I'll be finished serving my 45 weeks.) Good luck in the future and see ya next year.

I have enjoyed having you in my Spanish + Geometry class. You have helped make class not so boring (Spanish). I hope you will be in my Algebra II class next year. The best of luck with J.D. Maybe we can go to Spain together next year. That is if we can stay in class long enough. Have a great summer and I will see you next year.

And now the end is near, and so we face the final curtain, my friend, we'll say it clear, we'll state my case, of which I'm certain. We've lived a life that's full, we traveled each and every highway, and more, much more than this, we did it Our Way.

Regrets we've had a few, but then again, too few to mention, we did what we had to do, and saw it thru without exemption. We planned each chartered course, each careful step along the byway, and more, much more than this, we did it Our Way.

We're Writing Our Own Songs,
And Playing Them Our Own Way . . .

Delma,
 This year has been a really and year. Biology was really fun. Especially so much, we learned
 Mrs. Jackson the whole time.
 STUPID!! next year will be a special (prom) et we but - I can wait. I need a 3 month break. Hope to see you this summer. Good luck in everything to do and Best Wishes Always! Love, Jeanne

Delma,
 This has definitely been an interesting year. We do end up with the "word of the year" - I know Mrs. Jackson was always your favorite.
 Have fun this summer (as I'm sure you will) Just stay out of trouble and after you get your license, please be careful.
 I'm glad you were in some of my classes because you're really nice and you always cheer me up.
 Love,
 Jeanne

Debra,
I don't know exactly what to say.
Geometry class was really boring and we really gave Mrs. Jackson some hell! It's been a good year, if I may say so. You have a great summer & stay out of trouble. Maybe I'll see ya - friend always Carolyn

Debra,
It's been a great year.
I wish you had been in more of my classes except typing. We couldn't talk that much in there. You'll always be hang around with me at parties. We've started something. I don't know what I would have done without you. Stay like you are.
Maybe I'll come see you this summer. I mean I will. Have a great summer

Love,
Melissa

Debra,
It was a great year sharing with you. I enjoyed every minute of it. I'm glad you made cheering for me. I hope you have as much fun next year as I had this year with it. Come see me sometime this summer when you visit David. Best of luck in the future.
I hope you find the day of your dreams.
See you next year.

Love,
Debra
